

What If Adolf Hitler died while serving in World War 1?

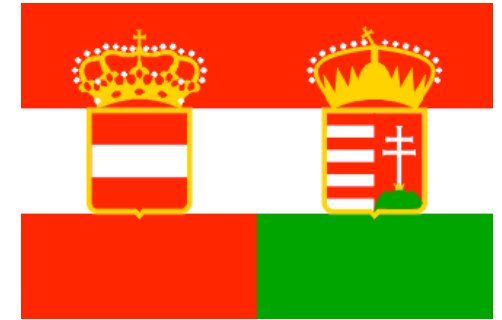

An alternate "What if?" timeline

← June 28th, 1914
Assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand

The heir of the Astro-Hungary throne, Archduke Franz Ferdinand, is assassinated by radical Slavic Nationalist Gavrilo Princip in broad daylight. The assassination of the Archduke is soon traced back to Serbia, who supplied guns and ammunition.

→ July 28th, 1914
The Austria-Hungary Empire declares war on Serbia, sparking World War 1.

→ August 1, 1914
Germany declares war on Russia.

← August 3rd, 1914
Germany declares war on France and invades Belgium.

→ August 1914
Hitler enlists in the German Army

← August 4th, 1914
Britain declares war on Germany.

→ October 28th, 1914
Turkey enters the war on Germany's side.

← August 12th, 1922

Central Powers countries turn into a state of social and economic downfall. Causing a mass recession within the countries.

→ May 29th, 1926

To ease the massive economic recession facing the countries, the former central powers countries form a new empire: New World Empire.

New World Flag

← August 28, 1926

After combining their militaries, the New World Empire begin to invade the newly formed countries.

→ September 15th, 1926

Estonia is reclaimed.

← October 23rd, 1926

Czechoslovakia & Yugoslavia are reclaimed.

December 25th, 1926

Most of Europe is reclaimed by the New World Empire.

January 1st, 1927

New World invades France.

February 15th, 1927

France falls to the New World Empire, and fearing the same fate; Britain declares war on the New World Empire.

March 28th, 1927

Britain falls.

July 20th, 1929

All of Europe falls to New World Empire rule.

October 29th, 1929

The United States of America enters
The Great Depression.

November 18th, 1929

New World Empire raises its first attack on American soil, first attack is unsuccessful.

January 1st, 1929

New World Empire raises its second attack on American soil, second attack is successful and America falls to New World Empire rule.

The Present As History Changed

As a result of the New World Empire taking over Europe, and eventually the United States, one would see that 2011 would be extremely different. First, concerning Europe, the former independent countries (France, UK, Spain) would now combine and merge with the other land that the New World Empire claimed. All the different forms of government in Europe would eventually dissolve into one coherent government, mostly being a monarchy. Also since Adolf Hitler had died, Germany didn't have a person to re-establish its morale and thus create Nazi Germany. Without Nazi Germany, events like World War 2 and the Holocaust don't exist. So things associated with those events also don't exist. America would basically become another Europe.