

Youth Newspapers

Small town Incidents

Massive blow up at mall Starbucks

On November 19, 2017, a massive fight broke out between 2 teenagers at a local Starbucks in a mall. People nearby saw 2 teenage boys approach a girl sitting with her two siblings and started making fun of her. She was seen to be very uncomfortable and wanted to leave. One of the boys was throwing insults at her before her brother stepped in. Her brother launched at the boy and pinned him to the wall. He was yelling at the other boy to leave his sister alone and to leave. Witnesses say he was cursing and screaming at the boy before he let him go. Afterwards the boy who pinned the other, named Joaquin, ran away from the Starbucks and his siblings ran after him. The other 2 boys left the Starbucks scared and embarrassed. People started to talk about the situation shortly afterwards.

On June 17, 2017 Grace gave birth to her daughter. She thought she was gonna be spending her evening at homecoming, dancing with her friends and spending time with her boyfriend. Instead, she was giving birth while homecoming went on. Grace went through immense pain giving birth to her little daughter, named Millie. Meanwhile her boyfriend, Max, was having a great time at homecoming. He was crowned homecoming king that night while Grace was having what was most likely the worst night of her life. Her mother was right by her side while she was giving birth. She passed out soon after and doesn't remember too much about the birth. Grace sadly gave up her daughter, Millie, directly after giving birth so she really didn't get a chance to say goodbye before she passed out. Overall, a new life was born into this world but poor Grace had to suffer for it all alone.

On October 28, 2017, A woman was hospitalized for a head injury. The police were called soon after the accident and the woman was rushed to the hospital. The story is that a woman walked inside her bathroom and when she entered the room she slipped on the marble flooring. She fell down and hit her head on the floor causing her to bleed. Luckily, her two daughters were nearby and found her passed out. They said there was blood all over the place and that freaked the two girls out. They immediately called the police and escorted her to the hospital. The mother is now being kept in the hospital but when she recovers she will have to go to rehab. When she fell, she was under the influence of alcohol resulting in her injury. The father is now staying home with the daughters while she recovers. He will stay with them during her rehab treatment as well. The bio-daughter is in distress and is very hurt by this story. She is the reporter of the incident but would like to keep her identity hidden while her mother recovers.