Filmshelf

Joshua Hernandez

The dark night is my all-time favorite movie. When watching this movie there is never a time where you get bored or already predict what will happen next, this is why I love this movie so much because of the actors who play their roles really well. The movie itself can be confusing if you don't really know Batman's background story, but even so, when watching this movie you can figure out what's happening in the story and what certain characters dislike each other. Also, Gotham city, which is really Chicago was such a good fit for the movie. Especially Batman since he's always in the dark the setting of Chicago was very good. Also when the Joker was in the cop car and he stuck his head out of the scene and the background was just very well put together. Something to give credit to is the actors. These actors were so good that if you watch any other batman you would wish it was the same actors. Thats how good these actors were and just fit they persona to play that roll. Even though it was some parts were action wasnt going the story line was still very entertaining .

Holes. This movie i like a lot which is surprising because when i first watched this movie it was very boring. I thought the whole story of it was boring and pointless to be honest. I think i thought this because i first watched this movie when i was pretty young and all i liked towatch was like power rangers and marvel movies. So i guess all my type of entertainment contained action in it. So when i first watched holes of course there was no villin and superhero based plot. First thought of mine was like yea its gong to be a boring movie and to be fair it wasnt the most entertaining when i first watched it. As igrew up and gave the movie more and more chances i started to get the meaning behind the movie. I started to really enjoy it. Relaized that movies dont always have to be about fighting that sometimes theres a deeper meaning in the movie and different ways to solve problems. Lastly as we grow up of course we make bad choices and this movie made me realized the consequences of our choices and the power of friendship is very important to at leasthave that someone you can depend on.

The Birth of Pele. This movie is all-time favorites because of how it was filmed. Pele is one of the best players of all time. He dominated the world with soccer skills and trophies he was able to win for his country. Pele's story wasn't an ordinary story of just becoming a very good soccer player because of the amount of training. Pele's story of how he became a soccer player is what makes this movie so good. The way they were able to film some scenes really felt like we were living his past. They would get shots like in the game. To the point when he was dribbling you would like to be in his body. A first-person point of view and they would make the audio silent, only hearing his heartbeat while dribbling so it felt so real and almost nailed on because a soccer player myself your heart goes pretty fast in serious situations of the game. So i was very surprised at how well they did that whole scene. Lastly the setting on brazil obviously that's were he's from is organic to me because of the way people were dressed and the environment just seemed to fit life back then.

The Batman. This is a very good movie in my opinion because a lot of people said how it was barely any action, and how boring and long the movie was. I personally love DC movies, so it can be biased a little but yes the movie was good but finally, there was a good actor to play batman and the riddler who was the villain in the movie did very well. When i watch superhero movies since i watch all of them, i am very biased on how good or bad actors played the role they're given. So that's why i rate the movie very high because i don't think there is a better actor for batman than Christian Bale. So considering that this new batman actor was very good and felt like the role of a real batman. Action-wise this movie was not the most but the whole story was good so it made up for not having a bunch of action. I felt like the movie was very creative and not predictable. In some movies, you can kind of figure out what is basically going to happen but in this movie the riddler had me shocked the whole time with its plan.

Infinity War. A film that will leave you speechless. This movie can leave a tear coming down your face depending on how bad of a marvel fan you are. This movie had so much going on that you could not have your eyes come off the screen. The way all the superheroes come together and have one big war is so incredible. The Slow mos were very good and the camera angles around the whole fight/war were top tier. I really enjoyed watching this movie because they keep the same actors. All though DC does very good movies as well they change there characters very often. This is not bad but marvel at least keeps the same actors. So when you're familiar to the actor you won't feel a type of way because they're still on the same, no matter if looking older or not. Which why the movie was very good because if you knew everyone from the past they are still the same and you wouldn't get confused since there is a lot of superheroes and can easily get confusing. At last, the ending was very sad but good in a way a lot of heroes were lost but the main plot was solved.