Basketball Reference is the best source online to find basketball information. Just like Pro Football Reference it is a website with absolutely no shortage of statistics. Basketball reference makes it very easy for me to research the careers of NBA.

Fred Carter

I used these websites to learn about NBA legend Fred Carter. I never thought that during my research I would learn so much about Fred Carter. I have heard of Fred Carter previously in my life but I never knew he's actually kind of a 76ers legend. Something I learned during my research is that Fred Carter actually coached the Philadelphia 76ers for almost 2 full seasons. I also learned that Fred Carter played for the worst 76ers team of all time. Overall these sources were very helpful in learning about Fred Carter.

Pooh Richardson

Pooh Richardson was one of the easier people for me to do my research on. He is a pretty well known NBA player and he is also a Philadelphia legend. The amount of accolades that Pooh Richardson received during his time at BFHS, UCLA, and the NBA is crazy. Pooh Richardson managed to remain in the NBA for 10 seasons and managed to average 11.1 point and 6.5 assists per game. During my research I also found out that Kobe Bryant and Pooh Richardson were close which is pretty cool.
